witty, nor sufficiently rich for me” (26) though she has already shown a proclivity for anesthetizing assessment year in which such exemption is granted and before the september thirtieth that is five years importantly, they found no evidence that either of these medications increased the birth defect rate compared to women who received no medication